Birch bark crafts came to us from the depths of centuries from our ancestors. In ancient times, boxes boxes for food and drinks were made of birch bark. Now there are not many such items in everyday life, but they have not lost their popularity and are attributes of beauty and prosperity. A box of birch bark may be an original decoration and a practical storage for small things at home or an exclusive gift for your loved ones.

Birch bark contains fungicidal and antiseptic substances like betulin that help preserve bark artifacts, as well as food preserved in bark containers.
