Description Latin name: Panax ginseng.

Originally grown in the Far East, it is now cultivated in a family homestead in Kaluga region of Russia.

Attention: The seeds are stratified, mixed with wet sand and ready to be planted. Spring is the best season to plant them.

Important: Keep stratified seeds in the refrigerator in a plastic bag. Mist the seeds with a spray bottle once a week until you are ready to plant. If the seeds ever dry out, they will die.

It is not easy to grow ginseng from a seed.
